

WOMEN IN HEALTHCARE SECURITY NETWORK

WIHS Allies

What does it mean to be a WIHS Ally?

Allies are security industry males or someone from outside the security industry (female or male) who advocates for equity, diversity, and inclusion. That can start with as little as being open to a conversation around these subjects or supporting diversity-focused events.

Examples of ally actions:

- Creating safe spaces for women to be authentic and speak up
- Providing growth opportunities equally among male and female workers
- Giving credit where credit is due
- Speaking up when witnessing unfair situations
- Encouraging diversity and inclusion dialogs with other colleagues
- Having awareness about women's challenges
